

Six Four-part Songs

Poetry by William Duthie

Ro. 2.

The Fairy Ring

J. Lemmens
[1823-1881]

Jaak-Nicolaas (Jacques-Nicolas) Lemmens (1823-1881) was born in Zoerle-Parwijs, Waterloo, Belgium. He was first a pupil of his father and later studied organ at the Royal Brussels Conservatoire then in Breslau, Bohemia with a government stipend. In 1849 he was appointed organ professor at the Royal Brussels Conservatoire. In 1857 he married the English soprano Helen Sherrington, who became a leading English concert and operatic singer. From his marriage on, he lived in England and at their castle Linter Ports Zemst, Belgium. He focused on the study of Catholic church music, especially on a method for accompanying Gregorian chant. Lemmens gained international fame as an organ virtuoso, particularly through his performances of Bach. He established a seminary for Catholic organists and choirmasters in Malines (Mechelen), Belgium. He wrote many works for organ, works for piano, two symphonies, a Te Deum, motets, songs, and part-songs.

Lightly, dance ye, rovers from fairy land, Star-like, twinkling fire-spirits bring, Nightly dance we over this merry land, Bounding round our fairy ring.

Hasten through green dells while starlight gleams, Mortals wearied, now lie steep'd in dreams; While springing, flashing, darting, so light and free, Now laughing, shouting, singing so merrily, Then springing, flashing, darting, light and free, Still laughing, shouting, singing merrily: Twinkling feet, laughing eyes, hands together bound, While the primrose sleeps, drooping on the ground, Sweep we o'er the grass in our magic, magic round. Daisies mark our flight; gaily as we rove, Lilies watch our love.

Lightly, dance ye, rovers from fairy land, Star-like, twinkling fire-spirits bring, Nightly dance we over this merry land, Bounding round our fairy ring.

Swift as a stream, Now away! Morning rays gleam. Thro' wood and dell at break of day, Ye fays, away: away, away, away. Gaily, fairies, sing we our roundelay, Fragrant valleys echo with the sound, Softly mingle voices of gnome and fay, Chiming bell-like sweetly around.

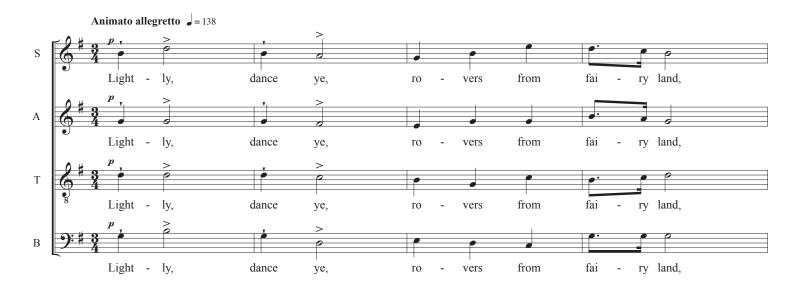

Lullabies chant we where dull bees sleep,
Beetles wak'ning from green covert creep;
While happy, careless, joyous in our song,
Now dancing, leaping, springing as we throng,
So happy, careless, joyous in our song,
Still dancing, leaping, springing, on we throng;
Rosy lips, blushing cheeks, hair all floating free,
Streaming in the wind as we onward flee,
Through the grassy brake or the daisied lea.
Twilight o'er our heads, where the twin stars meet,
Glowworms light our feet.

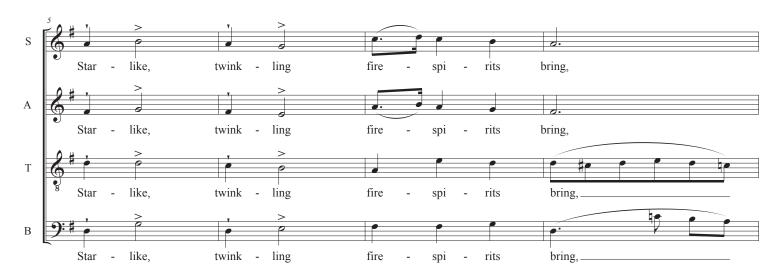

Gaily, fairies, ring we our roundelay, Fragrant valleys echo with the sound, Softly mingle voices of gnome and fay, Chiming, bell-like sweetly around.

Mortals, we hear, Come away! Daylight is near. Our ring is made ere break of day, Ye fays, away: away, away, away.

William Duthie

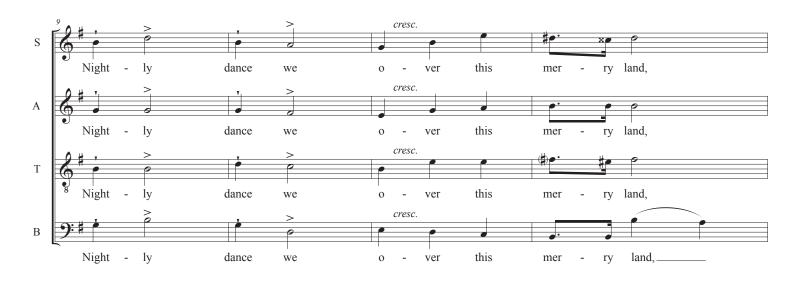

J. Lemmens

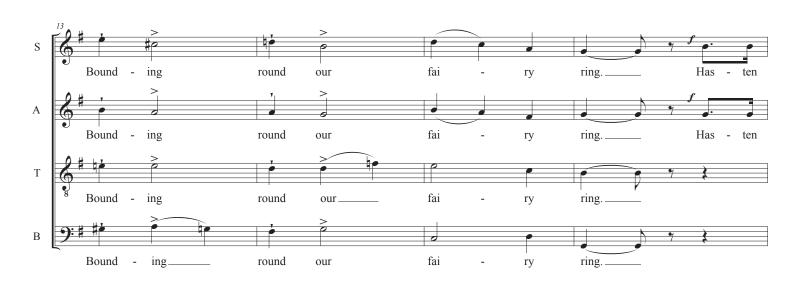

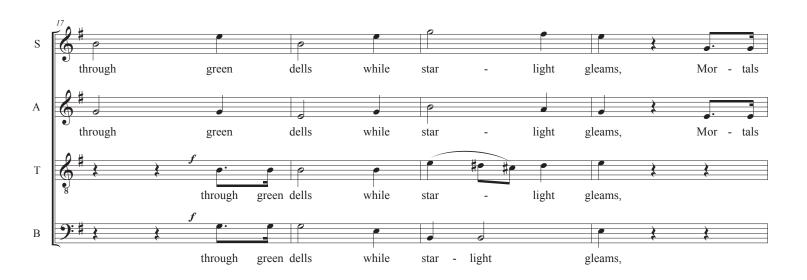

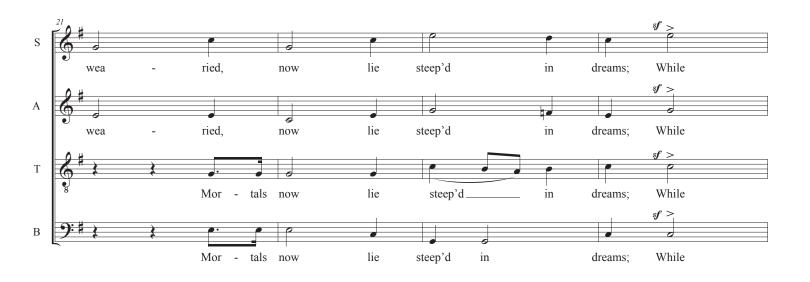

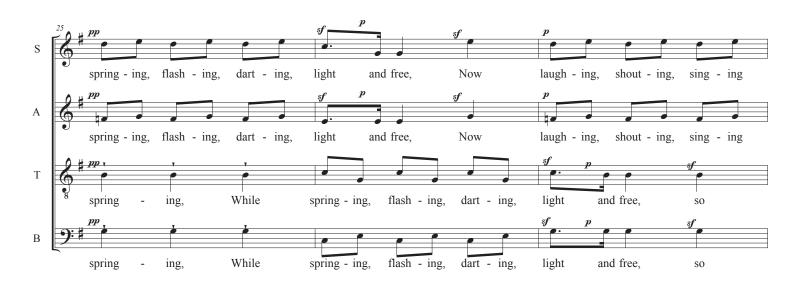

Edition and "engraving" @ 2014 SHORCHORTM. May be freely distributed, duplicated, performed and recorded under the TERMS OF USE described elsewhere in this publication. This edition is not a source for a secondary edition.

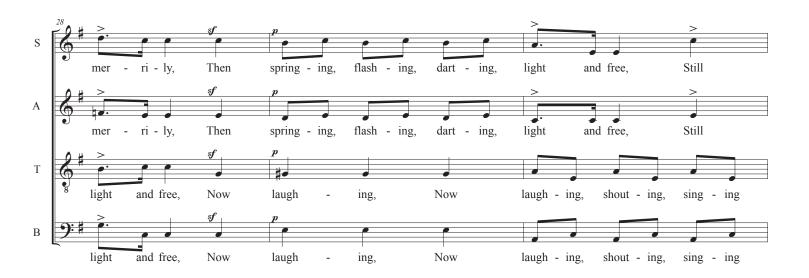

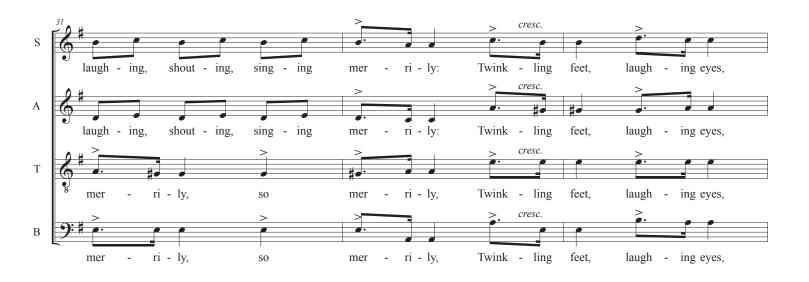

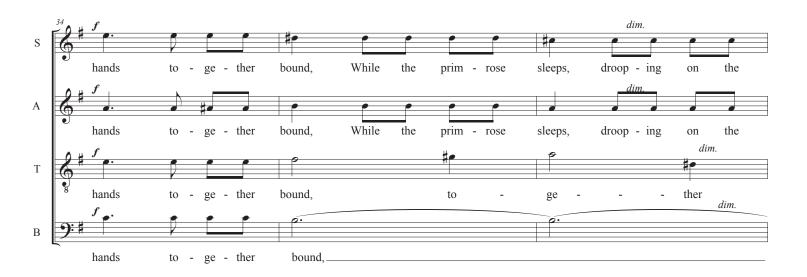

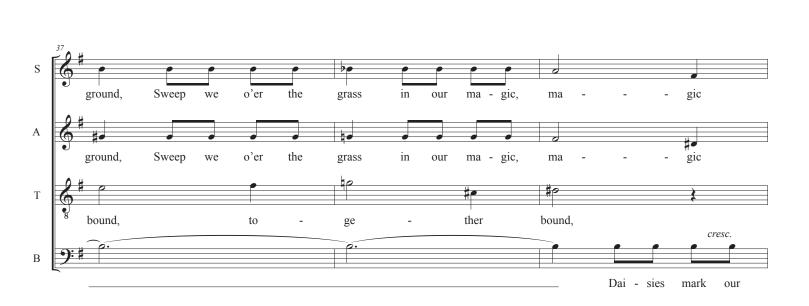

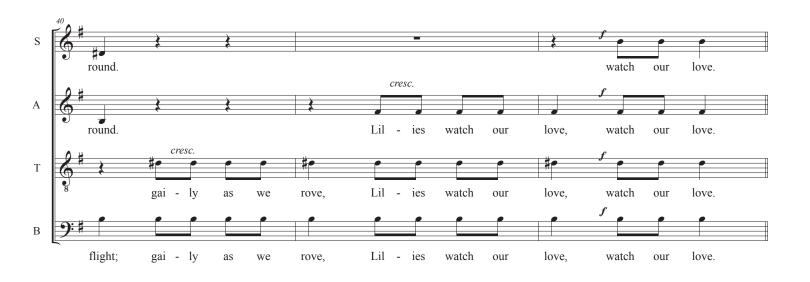

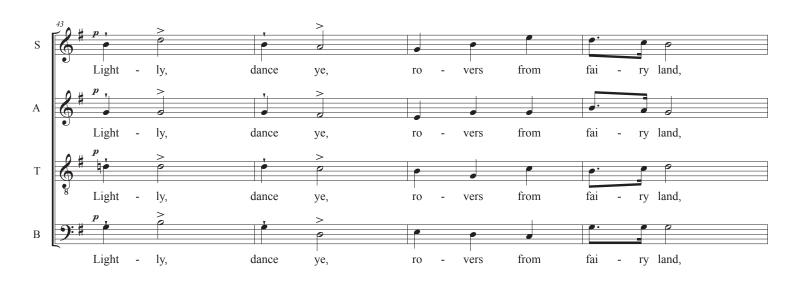

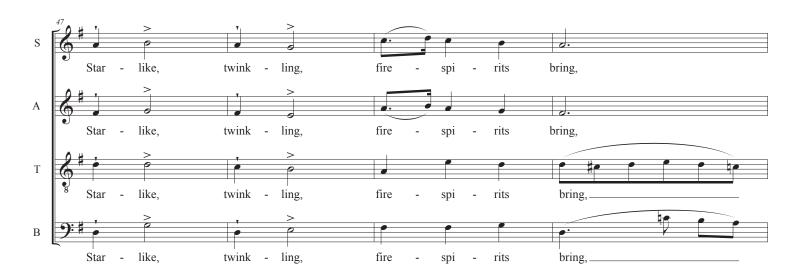

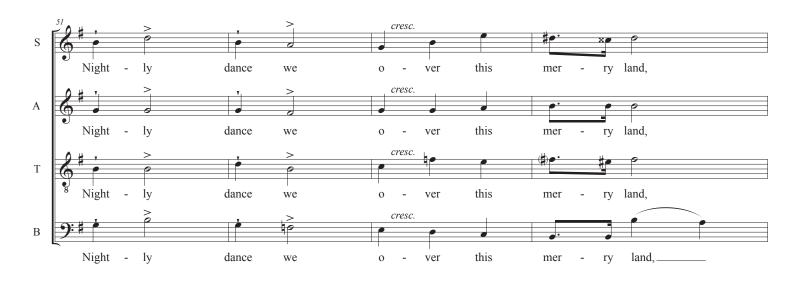

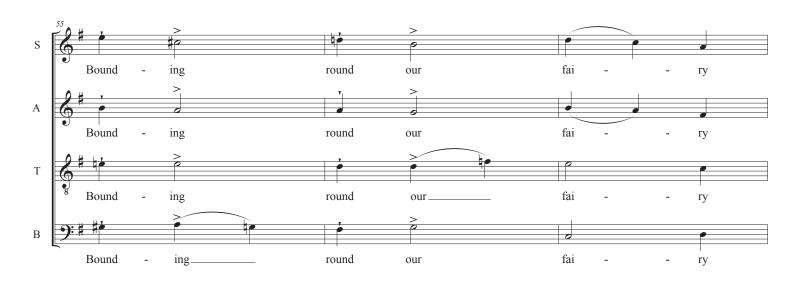

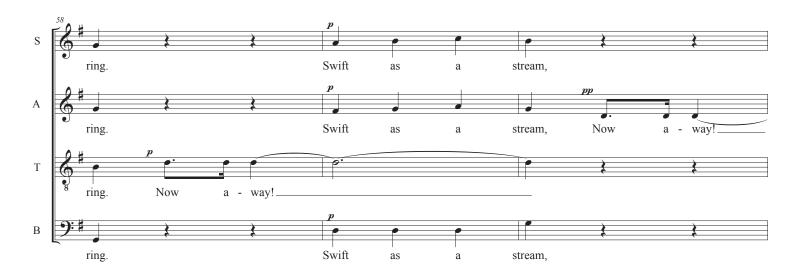

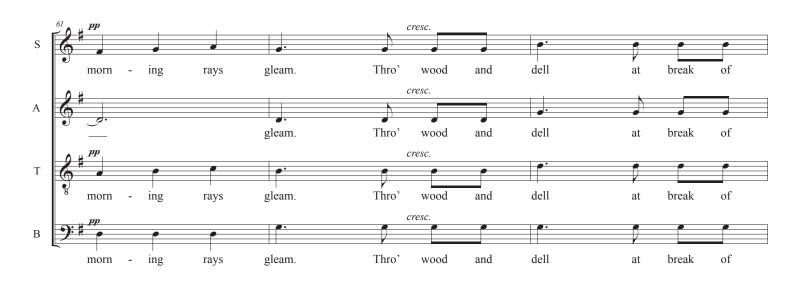

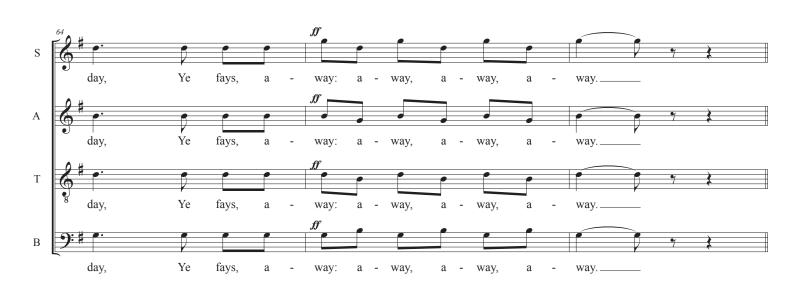

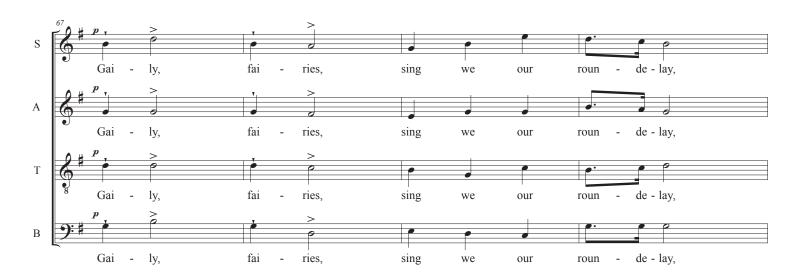

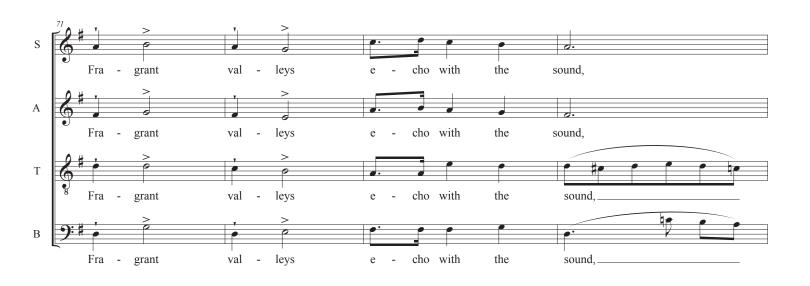

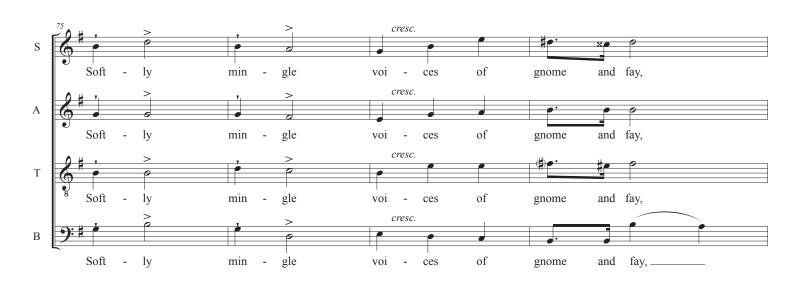

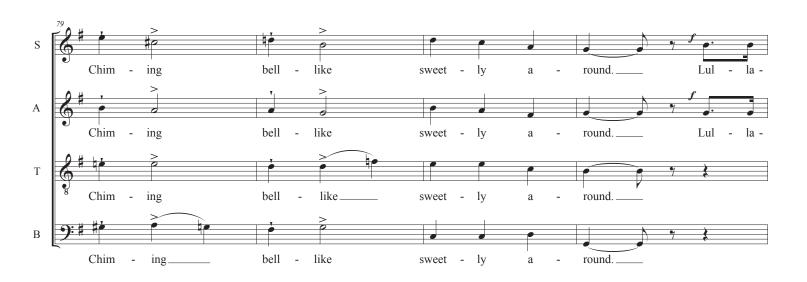

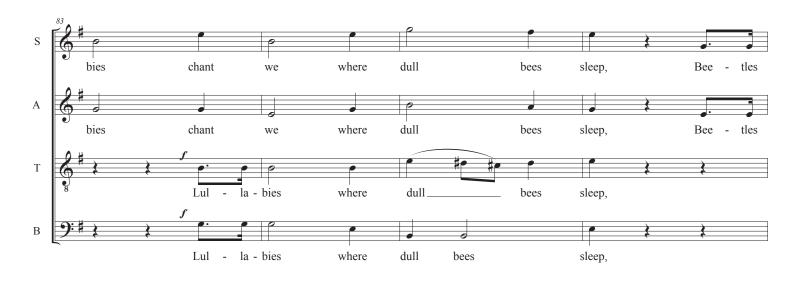

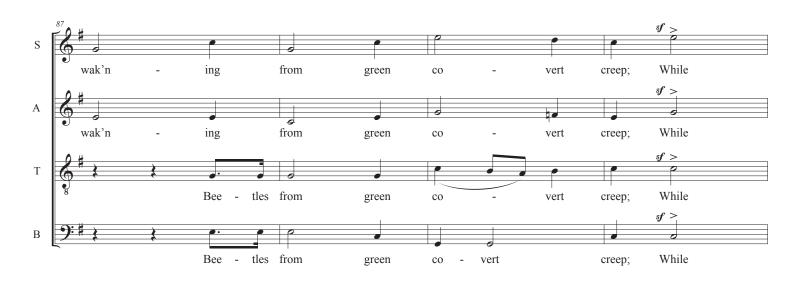

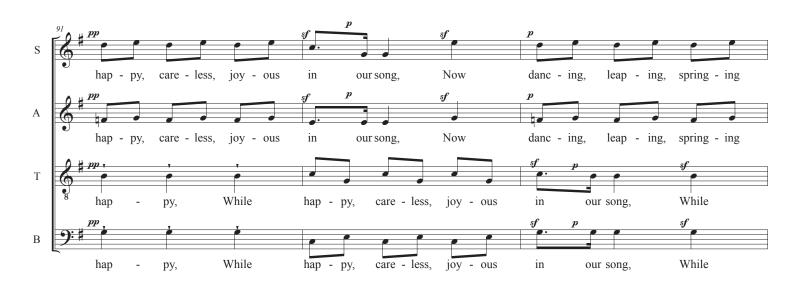

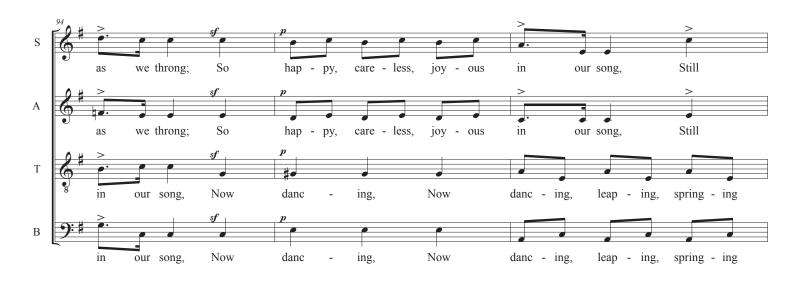

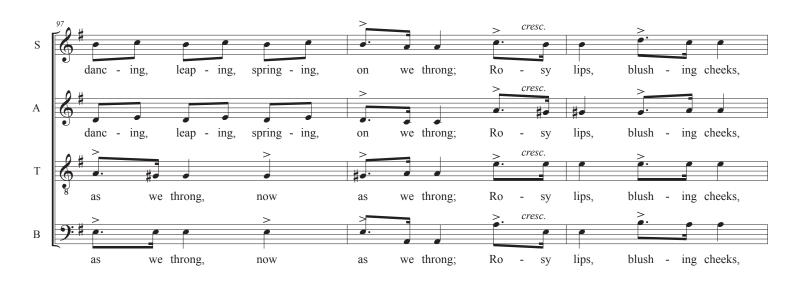

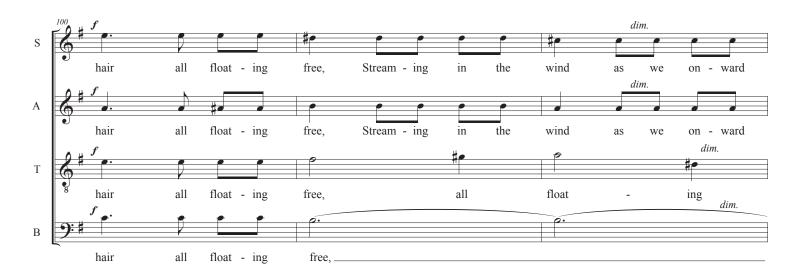

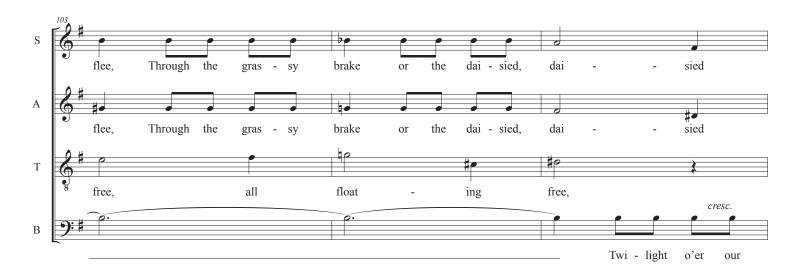

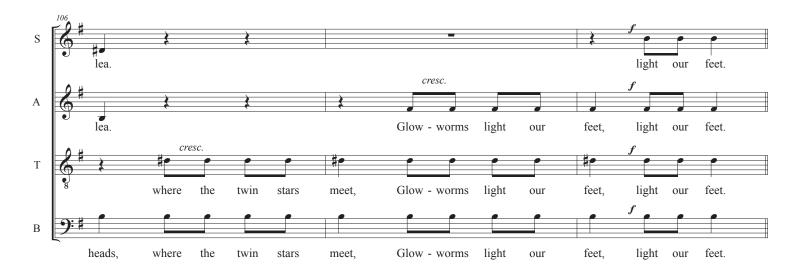

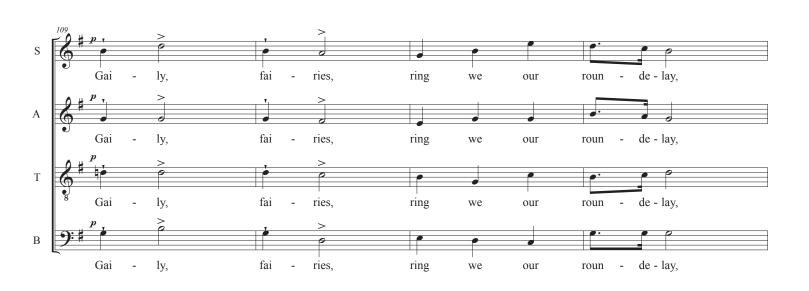

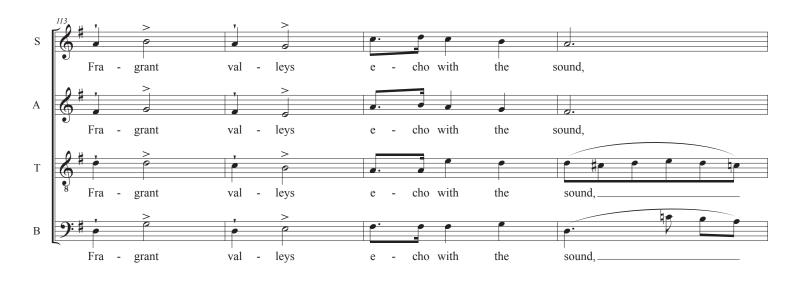

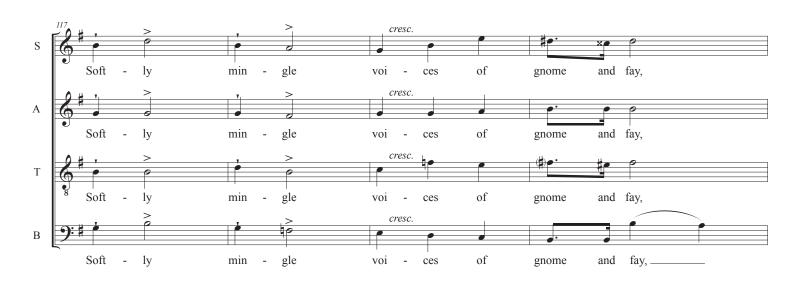

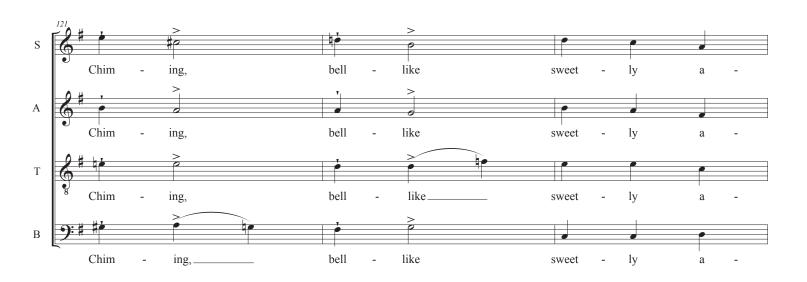

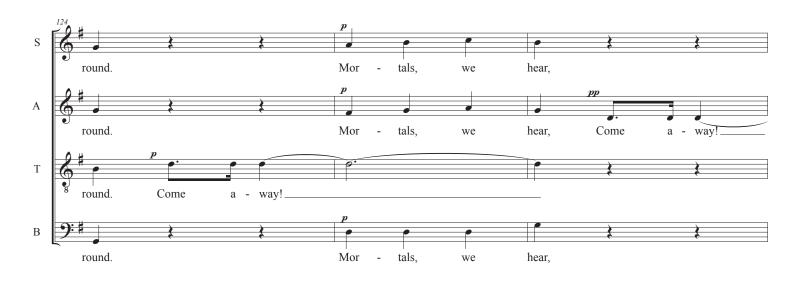

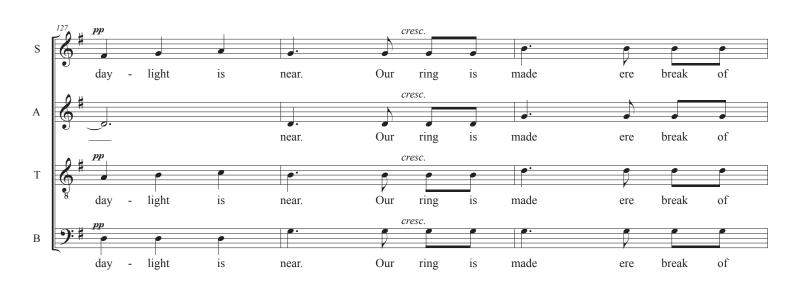

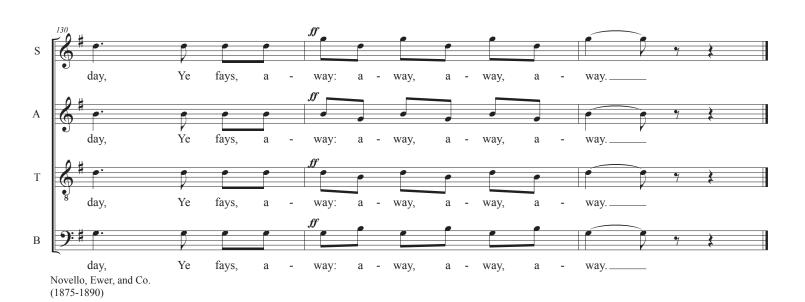

REVIEW The Musical Times June 1, 1869

Six Four-part Songs (SATB) By J. Lemmens Poetry by William Duthie

- 1. Drops of Rain
- 2. The Fairy Ring
- 3. The Light of Life
- 4. Oh, welcome him
- 5. Sunshine through the clouds
- 6. The Corn Field

There is much character in the first of these part-songs, the pattering of the rain-drops being admirably represented by staccato notes for the voices; and the cantabile melody for the upper three voices, whilst the bass obstinately maintains the "pit, pat," may be made very effective with a good choir. No. 2, "The Fairy Ring," commences with an agreeable, but peculiar melody, halting on the second beat of the bar in 3/4 rhythm. The voice parts throughout this Fairy song are uniformly well written; and there is a light and graceful character about the treatment of the words which will always please an audience. No. 3, "The Light of Life," is, in our opinion, the best of the set. The animated subject at the commencement peaks the words with remarkable fidelity; and throughout the composition there are several effective points of imitation, the concluding phrase of the verse being especially worthy of note. No. 4, "Oh, welcome him," is somewhat common-place, but effective in parts, especially where the bass takes the solo, in G minor, to the words, "The night was dark," and afterwards holds on the D as a dominant pedal. No. 5, "Sunshine through the clouds," has an appropriately tranquil theme, which is harmonized with care and judgment. The change to 2/4 rhythm has a good effect. No. 6, "The Corn Field," is a flowing melody, in 6/8 rhythm, in the treatment of which some happy contrapuntal effects occur. There is much interest in this song; and it will amply repay careful study. The whole of the compositions in this book are highly favourable specimens of the author's power to write effective and healthy part-music.

TERMS OF USE

These editions are available as a service to the choral community, offering inexpensive access to public domain literature. Choir resources can purchase other literature still under copyright, especially to support those creating and publishing new compositions and arrangements. These editions have been created using public domain sources under U. S. copyright law. Out of respect to the research, time and effort invested:

please print and issue an edition in its entirety, retaining notices, attributions, and logos. please do not consider this edition a source for creating another edition.

If performed, sending a copy of the concert program would be a valuable affirmation. If recorded, notification and attribution would be appropriate professional courtesies and a copy of the recording would be greatly appreciated!

For a full description of these requests and more scores, visit: www.shorchor.net

