

Isaac Watts, 1719
(Psalm 23)

86. 86. D. (C.M.D.)

Resignation

Transcribed from Southern and Western Pocket Harmonist, 1846.

Joseph Funk, 1832
F Major Arranged by William Walker, 1846

Tr. 5 1. 2. 10 15

1. { My shepherd will supply my need, Je-ho-vah is his name; } He brings my wandering spirit back When I forsake his ways; And leads me,
In pastures fresh he makes me feed, Be-side the living stream. }

A. 2. { When I walk through the shades of death, Thy presence is my stay; } Thy hand, in sight of all my foes, Doth still my table spread, My cup with
A word of thy supporting breath Drives all my fears away. }

T. 8 { The sure provisions of my God Attend me all my days: } There would I find a settled rest, While others go and come; No more a
O may thy house be mine abode, And all my work be praise! }

B.

Tr. 20

for his mercy's sake, In paths of truth and grace.

A. blessings o-ver-flows, Thine oil anoints my head.

T. stranger or a guest, But like a child at home.

B.

A folk hymn, first arranged by Joseph Funk in his Compilation of Genuine Church Music, 1832, to words by Charles Wesley, 1759, which begin And let this feeble body fail; this book was renamed Harmonia Sacra in 1851, and has gone through many editions down to the present. A slightly different arrangement (in F) appears in William Walker's Southern and Western Pocket Harmonist, 1846, with words as above. The tune (usually with Watts' words) is very commonly found in hymnals and tunebooks.
