Cantus

1. In God the Lord I put my trust; Why say ye to my soul, Unto the mountain swiftly fly, As doth the winged fowl?
2. Behold, the wick-ed bend their bows, Their arrows they prepare, To shoot in secret at those, who Sincere and upright are.

Medius

3. Of worldly hope all stays were shrunk, And clearly brought to naught: Alas! The just and upright man, What evil hath he wrought?
4. But he that in his temple is Most holy and most high, And in the highest heav'ns doth sit In royal majesty.

Tenor

5. The poor and simple man's estate Considers in his mind, And searcheth out full narrowly The manners of mankind.
6. And with a cheerful countenance The righteous man will use, But in his heart he doth abhor All such as mischief muse.

Bassus

7. And on the sinners casteth snares As thick as hail or rain: Brimstone and fire, and whirlwinds great, Appointed for their pain.
8. Ye see then how a righteous God Doth righteousness embrace, And unto just and upright men Shows forth his pleasant face.
