

Dominion

Joseph Hart, 1759

87. 87. 87. 87.

Transcribed from Ingalls' Christian Harmony, 1805.

G Major

Jeremiah Ingalls, 1805

Tr. 5 10

1. Come, ye Christians, sing the praises Of your con-de-scen-ding God; Come, and hymn the blessed Jesus, Who hath washed us in his blood. We are poor, and
2. Though we're mean in man's opinion. He hath made us priests and kings; Power and glory and dominion To the Lamb, the sinner sings, Lep - rous souls, un -

T.

3. Hear the terms that never vary: 'To re - pent and to be - lieve,' Both of these are necessary; Both from Je - sus we re - ceive. Would - be Chris - tian,
4. O! beware of fondly thinking God ac - cepts thee for thy tears; Are the shipwrecked saved by sinking? Can the ruined rise by fears? O! be - ware of

B.

5. No big words of ready talkers, No dry doc - trine will suf - fice; Broken hearts, and humble walkers. These are dear in Je - sus' eyes. Tink - ling sounds of

Tr. 15

1. weak, and sil - ly, And to eve - ry e - vil prone: Yet our Jesus loves us freely, And receives us for his own.
2. -sound and fil - thy, Come be - fore him as you are; 'Tis the sick man, not the heal - thy. Needs the good Physician's care.

T.

3. du - ly pon - der These in thine im - par - tial mind, And let no man put a - sun - der, What the Lord has wise - ly joined.
4. trust ill - groun - ded; 'Tis but fan - cied faith at most, To be cured and not be wounded; To be saved be - fore you're lost.

B.

5. dis - pu - ta - tion. Na - ked know - ledge, all are vain; Every soul that gains salvation. Must and shall be born a - gain.