A- rise and hail the sac - red day, Cast all low cares of life a - way and thoughts of meaner things. This day to cure our dead - ly woes, The son of right - eous -

- ness a - rose, with heal - ing in his wings. The wings, with heal - ing in His wings

son of right - eous - ness a - rose with heal - ing in His wings.

The score is written in 6/8 time and consists of four systems of vocal parts: Treble, Counter, Tenor, and Bass. The lyrics are distributed across these parts, with some lines appearing in multiple parts. The music features a mix of eighth and sixteenth notes, with some rests and ties. The lyrics are: "A- rise and hail the sac - red day, Cast all low cares of life a - way and thoughts of meaner things. This day to cure our dead - ly woes, The son of right - eous - ness a - rose, with heal - ing in his wings. The wings, with heal - ing in His wings son of right - eous - ness a - rose with heal - ing in His wings."
