1. Lord, hear the voice of my complaint, to my request give ear. Pre - serve my life from cruel foes, and free my soul from fear.

2. But God, to an - ger just - ly moved, His dreadful bow shall bend, And on His fly - ing ar - rows point shall swift de - struc - tion send.

3. Those slanders which their mouths did vent, up - on them - selves shall fall. Their crimes disclosed, shall make them be de - spised and shunned by all.

4. The world shall then God's power con - fess, and nat - ions trembling stand, convinced that 'tis the mighty work of His a - veng - ing hand.

5. While righteous men, whom God secures, in Him shall gladly trust. And all the listening earth shall hear loud triumphs of the just.
