I lift my heart to thee, My God and guide most just; Now suffer
Let not my foes rejoice, Nor make a scorn of me; And let them
But shame shall them befall, Who harm them wrongfully: Therefore thy Di-rect me in thy truth, And teach me, I thee pray: Thou art my

Notes:

The alto part is printed in the alto clef in the source.

Only the first verse of the text is given in the source: three further verses have been underlaid editorially here.

The two treble-range instrumental parts in the Interlude are both printed on the same treble-clef staff in the source, the first part with tails up and the second with tails down: they have here been split out onto separate staves.
